

Historic Barber's shop

Imagine a barber who decides one day to close down his shop, turns the keys and leaves. Exactly this happened to the small barber's shop in Paritzler Strasse just behind the Skatbarrenen and the "Brühl", the former market place. In 1926 Alfred Grosse opened his shop for Ladies and Gentlemen with a luxurious hand-made interior design in the best fashion of his time. In 1966 he closed his door and left – with all the equipment, hair dressing machinery and accessories from the 20ties onward still in it. Only in 2001 this treasure trove of 20th century hair dressing was rediscovered. It is now brought back to life by a very active association of Altenburg hairdressers. They restored the house and open it as a little museum with wonderful insights in the historical ways of their craft. You will get sentimental!
